SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Funeral of Hugh R. Smith—Several Candidates for Vacant Office.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore St., Petersburg, Va., July 11.

Miss Annie Lee Robertson, the beautiful and popular young daughter of highly respected parents, disappeared from her home in Chesterfield county Saturday afternoon, and her family and friends have been unable to find her. She is reported to have left home apparently for a walk, but failing to return at night, her absence caused uneasiness. A search was made for her. She was trailed for several miles until all trace was lost. On account of previous friendly relations existing between her and Thomas Wheelan, a farmer of the county, the latter was visited and inquiries made as to his knowledge of the young girl's whereabouts, but he professed ignorance. Yesterday, however, the family received word from Mr. Wheelan, informing them that he had heard from the girl; that she was well and in safe hands, and that there was no cause for uneasiness.

The affair caused much feeling and excitement among the relatives and friends of the young woman, who is not yet sixteen years old, and the belief having been expressed that Mr. Wheelan was instrumental in bringing about her disappearance, a warrant for his arrest, charging abduction, was issued last evening, but he could not be found to serve it. It is believed that the object of the couple is matrimony.

Sunday School Association. The regular monthly meeting of the Baptist Sunday School Association of Petersburg and vicinity was held with the Second Baptist School Sunday afternoon, President J. P. Stephenson in the chair. Reports of the register and average attendance for the past month were read as follows:

First Church.....	225	194	.87
Second Church.....	229	217	.76
West End.....	357	307	.86
Grove Ave.....	75	55	.73
Ettick.....	122	95	.81
Matoaca.....	123	80	.65
	1,203	955	.78

No report was submitted from the Woodland School in Chesterfield county. The number of new scholars reported for the month was forty-three, and the amount of money collected was $114. Interesting addresses on the recent Baptist campmeeting at Virginia Beach were delivered by the Rev. W. C. Taylor and the Rev. A. R. Love.

The association, after discussion, decided to hold a Sunday School Institute in Petersburg next fall, and the superintendents of the various schools were appointed a committee to make the arrangements for the institute.

Funeral of Hugh R. Smith. The funeral of the late Hugh R. Smith, Commissioner of the Revenue and past commander of the Virginia Grand Camp of Confederate Veterans, took place this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Second Presbyterian Church, of which he has long been a beloved officer and member. The high esteem in which Mr. Smith was held in the community was evidenced by the very large assemblage gathered to pay respect to his memory.

The Rev. D. H. Rolston conducted the impressive services. A. P. Hill Camp of Confederate Veterans was present in a body to pay tribute to their deceased comrade, as also were large delegations from the Benevolent Mechanic Association, the Masonic fraternity and other orders of which the deceased was a member. Eight members of the board of governors of the Soldiers' Home at Richmond attended the funeral.

The Pall-Bearers. The active pall-bearers were the eight nephews of the deceased, and the honorary pall-bearers were representative members of A. P. Hill Camp, Mechanic Association and Masonic fraternity, as follows:

Wm. H. Camp, J. E. Caldwell, E. M. Barksdale, Wm. E. Poole, Wm. H. Baxter, James B. Blanks, L. L. Kidd, D. D. Atkins, Wm. T. Parham, T. S. Beckwith, George S. Bernard, John R. Patterson.

The services at the cemetery were impressive. Beautiful flowers covered the grave, and taps were sounded over the remains of an gallant soldier and as true a man as ever lived.

Deaths Reported. William T. Franklin, a well-known citizen of Ettrick, died at his home in that village last night, after an illness of several months. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Misses Madeline and Claire, and one son, Benjamin Franklin.

Candidates for Office. The death of Hugh R. Smith causes a vacancy in the office of Commissioner of the Revenue for this city. The appointment of this officer will be made by Judge Mullen, of the Hustings Court, and it is understood there are, or will be, a number of applications for the position.

Old Factory Burned. The three-story frame building at the corner of Lombard and Third Streets, known as Cheives's Peanut Factory, was totally destroyed by fire this evening. The building was covered with corrugated iron and was half a block in depth. It belonged to James Cheives, of New York, and had been vacant for two years or more, containing only some old machinery. It was so burned, but in what manner is not known. There was little or no insurance on the property, and the loss is $2,500 or $3,000.

Personal and Otherwise. The Petersburg citizens were taken to the hospital last afternoon threatened, it is feared, with a spell of typhoid fever. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Martin, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Robertson, will be the champions at the fortnightly dance at the Riverside Club to-morrow night.

The Petersburg Grays have returned from the Gettysburg encampment. The boys are glad to get home, but say their visit was pleasant and an instructive one.

The reading of the depositions in the chancery cause of Avery and others against Tartie and others, which was begun last week before Judge Mullen, will be resumed on Thursday. This is a suit brought by the anti-Tartiees against the Tartie faction of the Harrison Street (colored) Baptist church to gain possession and control of that church.

WORK TO IMPROVE LIFE IN COUNTRY

Prominent Speakers to Address Conference at University Summer School.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., July 11.—The third annual Rural Life Conference, in connection with the Summer School of the University of Virginia, will be held this week in Cabell Hall, at that institution, beginning on Wednesday morning and concluding Friday night.

Aided by the vast amount of interest developed during the year, directly and indirectly by the President's Rural Life Commission, the conference will be able to bring together a most interesting group of speakers, among the number being Dr. L. H. Bailey, director of the College of Agriculture, Cornell University, who will open the conference with an address on "The Outlook to Rural Progress;" Dr. S. W. Fletcher, director of the Virginia Experiment Station; Prof. J. S. Thomas, Rural School Supervisor, Prof. J. P. Dugger, director of the Alabama Experiment Station; Mrs. Neale S. Knowles, of the extension department, Iowa State College; J. D. Eggleston, Jr., State Superintendent of Education, Bristol Adams, of the United States Forest Service; Dr. C. W. Sules, United States Bureau of Public Health; Dr. Allen W. Freeman, Assistant Health Commissioner; T. O. Sandy, State agent of Demonstration Work; Mrs. Edith Charlton Salisbury, of the extension department, Iowa State College; Prof. B. H. Crocheron, principal of the Agricultural High School, Philadelphia, Md.; J. F. Campbell, field agent Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work; U. S. Department of Agriculture; L. O. Schaub, special agent Extension Work, U. S. Department of Agriculture; E. C. Bishop, State Superintendent of Schools, Nebraska; Dr. Robert Pringle, of Warrington, Va.; Miss Kate Pleasant Minor, of the Virginia State Library, and Prof. Dick J. Crosby, U. S. Department of Agriculture. On Friday morning Governor William Hodges Mann will address the conference on "Good Roads and the Rural Life."

Probably 85 per cent. of the over 1,200 teachers attending the Summer School from over twenty States of the Union, teach in rural or village communities. The intellectual and social demands upon them are manifold. Besides class-room instruction, they have the rather difficult task of improving community life, and of showing its attractiveness in rural sections. With these facts in mind, this conference is held in the attempt to reach some conclusion as to what the problems of rural life really are.

Practically All Counties Instruct for Present Representative. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., July 11.—Counties after county the Republicans of the Ninth Virginia District are naming delegates to the Congressional convention to be held at Abingdon, July 20, and practically all are being instructed to vote for the renomination of Representative J. B. Slemmons.

Mr. Slemmons is the incumbent, and he has already signified his purpose for accepting and making his race, despite the claim of some people that he would be afraid to meet Henry C. Stuart as his Democratic opponent.

Following the action of the convention on the 20th instant, both parties are expected to enter actively into the campaign.

Mr. Slemmons has announced that he will open at Gate City, in Scott county, on the 20th of August, and the committee has made other dates for him up to October. Mr. Slemmons is expected to have the assistance of a number of prominent Republicans in the district.

Among those expected to take the stump for Mr. Stuart are former Governor Swanson, Hon. T. Tate Irvine, Joshua E. Bullitt, of Big Stone Gap; R. P. Bruce, of Wise; H. G. Peters, of Bristol; J. C.
